

```
9  @Path("/recruiting")
10 public class RecruitingEndpoint {
11
12     @POST
13     @Path("/software-developer")
14     public Response applyToday(Application application) {
15
16         recruitingQueue.offer(application);
17
18         return Response.ok().build();
19     }
20 }
```

x.news™

x.news information technology is a highly innovative start-up based in Pinkafeld, Austria. We have developed a cutting-edge story research tool for journalists and are now in the process of establishing x.news™, our on demand-solution, in the market. As service providers, we are supporting our customers in developing complex software solutions with main emphasis on Java. To support our development team, we are looking for a

SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

Responsibilities:

- Development of existing web applications in Java and HTML5/JavaScript
- Collaboration with a team of agile software developers
- Analysis, design, implementation, test, deployment and monitoring – you will be a part of the whole development process

Skills and qualifications:

- Successfully completed training (HTL, University of Applied Sciences, University) with emphasis on software development
- Knowledge of Java, HTML, JavaScript, SQL as well as relational databases and object-oriented programming required
- Knowledge in the areas of indexing and search as well as XML, JSON, SOAP, JAX-RS, JPA are of advantage
- Experience with RESTful services, Linux, agile methods, TDD, CI and build tools are of advantage
- Good knowledge of English is essential
- Ability to work independently, goal oriented and flexible is critical, so is analytical thinking as well as high willingness to perform and hands-on mentality
- Communication and team skills required

We offer:

- Participation in an international company
- Long-term employment on a full-time basis
- The opportunity of joining a dynamic team
- Varied and challenging responsibilities

Interested? Then contact us! Send your application to: office@x-news.eu

On the basis of full-time employment, we offer a monthly gross income starting from €2.187 (14 times per year) as well as the possibility of overpayment, depending on qualifications and professional experience.

x.news information technology gmbh is an equal opportunity employer.