X.NEWS PRESENTS GROUNDBREAKING NEW FEATURES AT NAB 2019

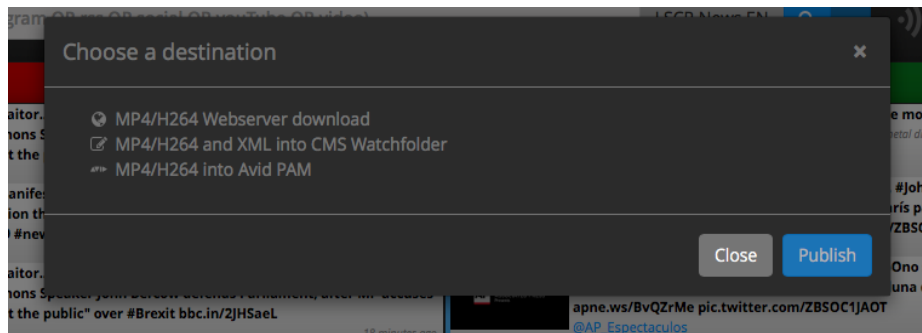

Pinkafeld, Austria, 04/06/2019

x.news information technology is proud to announce its participation at this year's NAB show, the important annual industry event, which will take place from April 8–11, 2019 in Las Vegas.

x.news will showcase x.news™ with three great new features which will increase the productivity and the research quality dramatically:

MediaTransferService is a new add-on module that allows you to transfer video content and associated metadata from various public sources (YouTube, Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Vimeo and more to follow soon) to specific destinations (web servers, FTP servers or local watch folders) for further processing.

An additional source for a more comprehensive search:

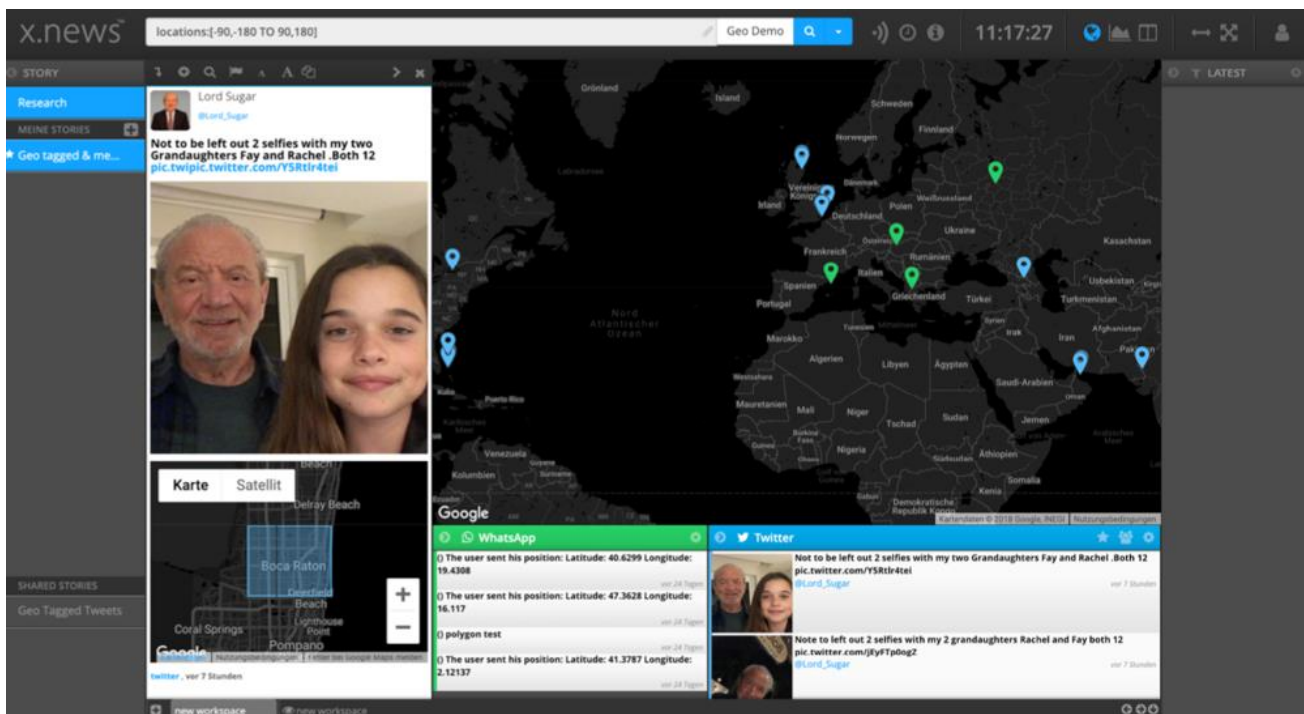

Vimeo is another news-relevant video source which is now supported by x.news™.

The optional GeoLocation module helps the user to localize the search results. An integrated map view allows to zoom into areas where many of these search results have been found (heat map). The automatic preview immediately enables the users to find the relevant media (picture, audio and video) in a specific region or a specific point of interest (accident, fire, ...). With MediaTransferService, x.news™ can now easily be adopted to customer proprietary workflows.
